NICOGRAPH
International 2013
Fukuoka, Japan, 2-3 June, 2013

The Society for Art and Science (http://art-science.org) will hold the 12th annual international conference "NICOGRAPH International 2013" in Fukuoka, Japan.

NICOGRAPH has quarter-century history. Its foundation can be traced back to 1985. The time-honored annual conferences have been organized by the Society for Art and Science since 2000, which aims to promote the research topic combining science and art in computer graphics and related fields as well as to advance the development of interactive media art. In 2002 the first international conference NICOGRAPH International 2002 rose out of the domestic series, and since then NICOGRAPH international conference has been organized annually.

The international conference mainly aim to provide good opportunities for young researchers and students to present their work in English and exchange ideas with young colleagues from other countries. Through this activity, the organizing committee and supporting members hope to raise the next generation of leaders in the interdisciplinary field combining academy, art and industry .

Topics and keyword of the conference include the followings, but not limited to: Computer Graphics, Arts content, Multimedia, Virtual Reality, Interactive Arts, Video Game, Design contents, Web design, Movie production.

Fukuoka is the largest city in Kyushu island, located 900km west of Tokyo. Fukuoka International airport is located just 4km from city center and Hakata station.
